An Act

To authorize the overseers of the poor of Rush township, Northumberland county, to levy and collect additional tax for bounty purposes.

WHEREAS, Under the call of the President of the United States, issued the eighteenth day of July, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, for five hundred thousand men, to serve in the army of the United States, the township of Rush, in Northumberland county, Pennsylvania, was required to furnish men, as the quota of said township, under said call :

And whereas, At a public meeting of the citizens of said township, it was resolved that the requisite sum, to pay the bounties required to procure men to fill said quota, be raised by voluntary contributions and by taxation, in order that the inhabitants of said township might be exempt from liability to a draft under said call :

And whereas, The committee appointed, at said meeting, to carry said resolution into effect, did procure the requisite number of men to fill said quota, and cause the same to be put into the military service of the United States; but in order to obtain said men were required to pay a larger bounty than by the acts of assembly of the twenty-fifth March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, and the supplement thereto, passed March fifteenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, could be raised by taxation :

And whereas, The inhabitants of said township having failed to raise, by voluntary contribution, the moneys necessary to make up the deficiency.:

And whereas, The said committee, in order to carry into effect the before-mentioned resolution, and relying upon pledged faith of the inhabitants of said township, did, on their own responsibility, borrow such sum as was required to procure the requisite number of men to fill said quota :

And whereas, After applying all the funds raised, for said purpose, by voluntary contribution, and levying and collecting therefor such amount as could be legally raised, by taxation, under existing laws, to the re-payment of said moneys, so borrowed, there still remains a deficit of about twelve hundred and fifty dollars ; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That it shall be the duty of the overseers of the poor of the said township of Rush, in Northumberland county, and they are hereby required, within thirty days after the passage of this act, to assess upon all persons and property, real and personal, within said township, subject to taxation, for county purposes, (except as hereinafter excepted,) a bounty tax, not exceeding, in the aggregate, one thousand two hundred dollars, to be based upon and apportioned according to the latest assessment and valuation, for county purposes; which tax shall be assessed, levied and collected in like manner as county taxes are now, by law, collectable within said township: Provided, That all such person, or persons, as shall have served in the military service of the United States, during the late war, the widows of soldiers, who served in said war, and widows residing in said township, who shall have had one, or more, son, or sons, who served in said service, shall be exempt from taxation, for the purpose aforesaid, under this act.

And whereas, That class of unfortunate individuals are universally excluded from all hospitals in the state, not excepting even the insane :

And whereas, It is a notorious and lamentable fact, that the only refuge, or asylum, for the drunkard, is the city station house, or county jail, to which, when too disorderly, he is reluctantly committed, as a criminal, for a few days, or weeks, to be again set at liberty, or discharged from confinement, to renew his dissipation and distress, or disgrace himself and his relatives, or family :

And whereas, Drunkenness is now regarded as a disease, and not a crime, requiring special care and treatment of its victims, in many instances the most talented, and best educated, of the residents of the neighborhoods to which they belong, a number of the citizens of this commonwealth have associated themselves together, for the purpose of establishing the Reform Hospital of Pennsylvania, with the hope of rescuing the neglected, shunned and despised inebriate, from premature death, of a disgraceful grave, and have petitioned the legislature to grant them a charter of incorporation ; therefore,

SECTION 2. That the members of the said corporation, or a majority of them, shall have power to elect a physician, a regular graduate of medicine, as medical director and superintendent, who shall have power to appoint a resident assistant physician, who shall also be a regular graduate of medicine, also a resident assistant superintendent, and such other officers and assistants as may be necessary, for the successful administration and government of the said hospital.

with the officers of the said institution, unless provided with a permit from the medical director and superintendent, or any of the board of visitors of the hospital.

Affidavit required. and filing of an affidavit, by a respectable physician, and the affidavits of two respectable citizens of such city, or county, to the effect that such inebriate, or habitual drunkard, is lost to self-control, and unable to attend to any business, or considered too dangerous to remain at large; but such commitment shall, in no case, be for a longer period than one year.

Committee of person of habitual drunkard, relative to. SECTION 8. That the committee of the person of any habitual drunkard, duly appointed, under existing laws, may in his, or her, discretion, commit such habitual drunkard to the custody of the Reform Hospital of Pennsylvania, for medical treatment and care, there to remain at least one year, unless sooner discharged, cured.

Granting a pension to Henry Welsh, a disabled soldier.

WHEREAS, Henry Welsh, late corporal in the company of Captain J. G. Simpson, in the First artillery regiment of the Reserve Volunteer Corps of Pennsylvania, was disabled while engaged, under orders, in firing a salute, on Capitol hill, Harrisburg, on the morning of the fourth of July, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one, by the premature discharge of a cannon, both his arms having been so much injured, as to require amputation:

And whereas, The said Henry Welsh can receive nothing from the general government, having only been sworn into the service of this state, and having a certificate from J. P. Wilson, Surgeon General of Camp Curtin, declaring him entirely disabled from obtaining his subsistence:

And whereas, By the act of Congress, of July fourth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, supplementary to an act, entitled "An Act to grant pensions," approved July fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, it is declared, section five, "That all persons now, by law, entitled to a less pension than hereafter specified, who shall have lost both feet in the military service of the United States, and in the line of duty, shall be entitled to a pension of twenty dollars per month; and those who, under the same conditions, have lost both hands, or both eyes, shall be entitled to a pension of twenty-five dollars per month."

And whereas, Justice would seem to require that soldiers, incapacitated from earning a livelihood, by reason of wounds received in the service of the state, and in the line of duty, should be placed upon an equality with soldiers so disabled in the service of the general government; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That in lieu of the life annuity of one hundred dollars, granted by the act of eleventh of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, to Henry Welsh, late corporal in Captain J. G. Simpson's company, First artillery regiment of the Reserve Volunteer Corps, wounded and disabled, as aforesaid, the said Henry Welsh shall receive a life annuity of three hundred dollars, to date from the fourth day of July, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, and to be paid by the state treasurer, semi-annually, on the fourth days March and September, of each year, out of any moneys in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated; and the act of April eleventh, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, granting an annuity of one hundred dollars, to the said Henry Welsh, is hereby repealed.

WHEREAS, Under and in pursuance of the fourth section of an act of the general assembly, of the state of Pennsylvania, approved the thirtieth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, entitled "An Act imposing additional taxes for state purposes, and so forth," the treasurer of the county of Lancaster made a return, to the auditor general, of the amount of scrip, bonds, or certificates of indebtedness, issued by said county and outstanding, on the first day of January, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four; upon which return, the auditor general settled the account of said county, and ascertained its liability to the commonwealth, for the special tax for state purposes, imposed by the act before recited, to be five hundred and two dollars and sixty-four cents:

county, for the years one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five and one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, as a special tax upon the outstanding loans of the county aforesaid; and the auditor general is hereby authorized and directed to enter satisfaction upon the books of the commonwealth, for any such sum, or sums, thus alleged to be due, and to refrain from all proceedings for the collection of the same.

Relative to a repeal of the tax upon crude petroleum.

WHEREAS, The production of petroleum has become a matter of vast national importance, and should be encouraged, rather than repressed, it being not only the interest of the people, but also of the government, that the production and exportation should be as large as possible :

And whereas, The present tax upon the crude article is not only oppressive, but prohibitory, on all the smaller class of wells, which, in number, are as one hundred to one, compared to the large ones, and the producers, in but few instances, being the owners of the fee, are compelled to give the one-half of the product as a royalty to said owners, which renders it impossible to pay the present tax, and carry on operations ; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby resolved by the authority of the same, SECTION 1. That our senators in Congress be instructed, and our representatives be requested, to use all honorable means to procure, at the earliest possible day, the repeal of the tax upon crude petroleum.

Joint Resolution

Instructing the Senators and Representatives in Congress, from Pennsylvania, relative to the equalization of bounties.

WHEREAS, There is eminent justice in the petitions and desires of a large majority of the late soldiers and sailors, in the war to suppress rebellion, that the general government shall equalize, by appropriate legislation, as far as possible, the bounties paid, at different times during the war, to secure enlistments :

And whereas, It is believed this equalization can be done, without too largely increasing the public burdens ; and it is proper that Pennsylvania, always contributing so promptly and liberally of her citizens and her resources, to save the nation's life, should formally express her wishes and desires on so just a measure ; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, (the House concurring,) That our senators and representatives in Congress be instructed, and they are hereby requested, to advocate, and vote for, a measure that will equalize the bounties, paid by the general government, at different times, among the late soldiers and sailors, in the war against rebellion, adopting, in such equalization, the principle of paying those enlisted men, who have been honorably discharged the service, eight and one-third dollars per month, for the time actually served, deducting therefrom the amount of bounty they have already received from the general government, so that the amount to be paid, with that already received, shall, in no case, exceed the rate of eight and one-third dollars per month, for the time actually served ; that no bounty, whatever, in this measure for equalization, should be paid to those soldiers and sailors whose term of enlistment was for a less period than six months, nor to those who deserted the service, nor to those who have been discharged before the expiration of their term of enlistment, at their own request, except for the purpose of re-enlistment, or accepting promotion, where such promotion has been subsequently received, unless from disability, nor to those who were prisoners of war, from the rebel armies, at the date of their enlistment, nor to those who have sold and disposed of, in any way, for gain, their final discharge papers, or any interest in any bounty provided for by any act of Congress ; that where a soldier, or sailor, who would be entitled to the bounty, above proposed, is dead, the same shall be paid to that class of his personal representatives who are entitled to receive pensions, under the present laws.

Resolved, That Congress should provide for the payment of the bounties, above proposed, by authorizing the issuing of United States five per cent. bonds, payable, within a reasonable period, out of a fund to be raised by a tax on the cotton growing interest of the country, and out of the proceeds of the public lands ; giving, however, to the person entitled to the bounty, the privilege to receive the whole, or a part, of the same, in land warrants, at a specified price, not exceeding seventy-five cents per acre.

Resolved, That in the measure, hereby recommended, for the equalization of bounties, the persons entitled to the same, and the government, should be fully protected against the frauds, impositions and exactions of unscrupulous speculators and claim agents.

Resolved, That his excellency, the governor, be requested to forward a copy of these resolutions to our senators and representatives in Congress.
